56-58 Dawson St, D2
t. (+353) (0)1 677 4754, www.hodgesfiggis.ie

Hodges Figgis the Bookstore was founded in 1768 which makes it Dublin's oldest bookstore. It has been mentioned in James Joyce's Ulysses and in poems by Paul Durcan, amongst others. Three floors are crammed with a wide selection of genres and titles. On the ground floor, along with a large fiction/children's section, there is an excellent Irish department which holds many titles on Irish interest topics and by Irish authors. The first floor stocks books related to home, leisure, travel, religion/philosophy, history and politics. The second floor is dedicated to Academia, the reserves desk and the library sales department. Events with local and international authors are held year-round, encompassing a wide range of topics from sociology, poetry and fiction to events specifically catering for children. All in all, if you are interested in books, Hodges Figgis is the store for you. Hodges Figgis Loyalty Card available. Open Mon-Fri 9am-7pm, Thu until 8pm, Sat 9am-6pm, Sun 12pm-6pm, Bank Holiday Mon 11am-5pm.

H5 ULYSSES RARE BOOKS
10 Duke St, D2
t. (+353) (0)1 671 8676, www.rarebooks.ie

This family run bookshop was founded by the late Enda Cunningham back in 1969. Enda's son and daughter, David & Aisling, now run the bookshop which has been trading on Duke Street for over 25 years. Ulysses Rare Books is a must for bibliophiles and collectors. Their particular speciality is in 20th Century Irish literature, and they have an unrivalled selection of rare Editions by James Joyce, Oscar Wilde, W.B. Yeats, Samuel Beckett, Seamus Heaney, Brendan Behan, Flann O'Brien and many others. They also stock a wide variety of books on Irish history and topography from the 17th Century to the recent past and original Maps of Ireland. Whenever you find yourself in the vicinity, call in and browse what is undoubtedly Dublin's leading antiquarian bookshop. They are members of the Antiquarian Booksellers' Association (ABA). Open Mon-Sat 9.30am-5.45pm.

Galleries

H5 DUKE STREET GALLERY
17 Duke St, D2
t. (+353) (0)1 613 9005, www.dukestreetgallery.ie

This city centre gallery is housed in one of Dublin's oldest buildings, notably the original location for the Red Bank Oyster (est. 1838) mentioned in James Joyce's Ulysses. Originally constructed in the 1730s, the premises took the form of the then popular Dutch Billy style house - a style of architecture that sadly has almost entirely vanished from the local landscape. Thankfully, the gallery has been lovingly and beautifully restored and retains many of its original features. The represented artists have exhibited in a number of cities around the world such as New York, Hong Kong, Chicago, Sydney and London. The acclaimed artists featured are Louis LeBrocqy, Marie Carroll, Graham Krutzel, Harry Kennoff and Patrick Collins and the website offers instant availability to a vast range of Irish art and specialises in the packaging and exporting of its artwork worldwide. Open Mon-Sat 10.30am-6pm, Sun: 11am-6pm.

H5 PATRICK DONALD PHOTOGRAPHY GALLERY
Royal Hibernian Way, Dawson St, D2
t. (+353) (0)1 681 5225, www.blackandwhiteireland.com

Specialising in beautifully striking black and white images, the Patrick Donald Photography Gallery is the only one of its kind in Dublin. Centrally located in the Royal Hibernian Way on Dawson Street, just off Grafton Street, this iconic gallery offers many beautiful scenes from across Ireland. The collection spans the length and breadth of the country bringing you several different aspects of this varied and interesting island. Available for purchase at very reasonable prices, these images are obtainable in a variety of sizes - framed and unframed. Currently they are also offering 3 for the price of 2 across all unframed sizes so this unique gallery is well worth a visit. Open Mon-Sat 10am-6pm, Thu until 6.30pm.

THE ANTIQUES GALLERY at Powerscourt Townhouse Centre

The Powerscourt Townhouse Centre is renowned in Dublin as a focus for quality antiques. In addition to showcasing some of the best fashion boutiques, gift shops, bars and restaurants, it is home to some of the best antique shops in the city; offering antique jewellery, porcelain, silver, enamelware, collectables and objet d'art from the 18th-20th Century. The proprietors of these established businesses are experts in their fields and can share a wealth of knowledge with customers, whether they are collectors or individuals looking for something special.

G5, C7 STONECHAT JEWELLERS
3-4 Westbury Mall, D2
t. (+353) (0)1 6710103
www.stonechatjewellers.ie

Stonechat Jewellers is a unique, Irish owned jewellery store specialising in contemporary designs handcrafted by Irish designers. They offer handmade jewellery with an extra emphasis on craftsmanship, exceptional design and excellent customer service. With an open door and prices showing, Stonechat is going against the trend of traditional jewellery stores to create a more welcoming space. You can watch Stonechat's goldsmiths at work in their in-store workshop and gain a unique insight into how a piece of jewellery is created. "A stonechat is a little-known Irish bird that is a beautiful shade of grey with a little dash of red. It is a perfect example of understated beauty - something I want to reflect both in my designs and in my store in the Westbury Mall." Owner & Goldsmith Ann Chapman. Open Mon-Fri 10am - 6pm, Thursday until 7pm, Closed Sundays & Bank Holidays.
